I feel like I have been shirking my duties of bringing the latest Osage Minerals Council happenings to you. On Friday, May 16, I was out of town and couldn't be at the meeting. Then, the following week, I was ill with a bug for 2 days. I know some of you have been expecting a report on these meeting, and I apologize for disappointing you. I'm back in the groove now, but I don't have much to report. I have listened to the recordings of both meetings, but it's just not the same as being there.

I did obtain the Council's auditor's report and found enough numbers to build the pymt/oil price chart below. I hope to keep bringing this information to you.

The 2nd Minerals Council has their last 2 meetings in June. Be there if you can, and support your Minerals Council. They are supposed to be working for you, and we all should let them know that we appreciate them, even if we sometimes disagree with their decisions.
